A Revolutionary Soldier in Ohio. Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial. COMBERLAND, GUERNSEY COUNTY OHIO.) Tuesday, May 8, 1866.

Having noticed in your issue of Saturday, 5th inst., the death of Wm. Hutchings, the last Revolutionary soldier of the State of Maine, and as that notice states, the last but three in the United States, I was prompted to write you the following:

Mr. John Gray, who lives in Noble Township, Noble County, Ohio, about four miles east of the village of Cumberland, Guernsey County, Ohio, is, without any doubt, a Revolutionary soldier. I visited him last Winter, and he gave me the following history of his birth and life: He was born Jan. 6, 1764, near Polick Creek, and was christened in what was called the Pobiek Church, which he thinks was then within the territorial limits of Fairfax County, Va. In February, 1780, he volunteered in the service of his country, but returned home in May, 1781, immediately after the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, and was retained as a minute-man on the banks of the Potomac for six months after, before he was discharged the service. Col. Church and Maj. Ramsey commanded the regiment and Capt. Robert Stanford the company to which he belonged. His father, Shadrick Gray, died in the service of his country at White Plains in Jan. 1777; he was under Capt. West. Jno. Government in the shape of land warrant, pen sion, or anything else. According to the above date, he was 102 years old on the 6th day of last January. He lives have always respected him as a sober, industrious and truthful man. He is now entirely dependent upon the charities of a stepdaughter, (the child of his first wife,) who is married to a Mr. Henry McElray. He enjoys remarkably good health, and his mental faculties are very good for a person in his advanced age. He has never taken a potion of medicine from a physician in his life.-Many years ago he had an attack of some kind of fever, and some good neighbor gave him a potion of tartar emetic which is the only medicine he has ever taken. He has been a member of the Protestant Methodist Church in good standing for seventy-five years. He went to the polls last Fall and voted the Republican ticket, and he told me he expected to do the same next Fall if John A. Binghan ran for Congress. He looks as if he was good for at least eight or ten years yet.

A POINT TO BE SETTLED. - The following case has been submitted to the commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau for his opinion thereon: John Dorsey, colored, bought his daughter, Sarah Ann from her mester, Henry Saunders, of Leesburg, Va., in the year 1860, for whom he agreed to pay the sum of $550. Mr. Amos Hughes went his security for the payment of the money. Mr. Dorsey has paid $350 of the purchase money, and the remaining $200 are in the hands of his security. Saunders demands the balance, but Dorsey does not wish to pay it, thinking it unfair that he should now be obliged to pay for the freedom of his daughter. The Commissioner replied that in his opinion the $200 balance referred to should not be paid by Mr. Dorsey, but that the case seemed to involve points that should be settled by the proper judieial tribunals. - Wash. The magnificent vase which the citizens of Boston presented (by subscription, limited to one dollar each) to Daniel Webster in 1835, as "an enduring testimonial of their gratitude for his services, and especially for his unsurpassed combination of logic and eloquence" in the great debate with Hayne, has been purchased of the Webster family by some gentlemen of Boston who hold the statesman's memory precious, and has been by them presented to the city of Boston, with a request that it be perpetually kept in the hall of the public library for security and public inspection. The vase, is a teautiful work of art.

The elergyman whom the Louisiana Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal church has just elected successor to the late Bishop Polk, turns out to be Rev. Joseph P. B. Witmer, for many years rector of St. Mark's church, Philadelphia.

Private letters received in Boston from merchants in London and Liverpool speak of the monetary panic experienced there as one of the most severe for the moment ever remembered. As to the future, the writers are divided in
